Hello Vishal,

Hope you are doing well.

I want to inform you that the task assigned to make a design document for the Event Management project has been completed and I have attached the design document with the mail. This outlines the detailed functional and non-functional requirements as discussed and is intended to serve as a reference for the development phase.

Kindly review the document and let us know if any modifications or additions are needed.

Thank you for your guidance and support.

Best regards,
